Spotts, Stevens and McCoy is a family-owned and managed, regional engineering firm. What we do best - is what you don't. Our clients range from large regional and national companies in the manufacturing, processing and high tech sectors to municipalities and authorities. What they have in common is they are very good at what they do. And when they need help beyond their core competencies in facilities, surveying, water/wastewater, civil or other engineering disciplines, we are there to handle the engineering challenges that they can't easily. We integrate timely, sustainable, and seamless solutions while they focus on their core business.
