Maintaining system infrastructure to deliver clean and safe drinking water to customers is often a significant challenge for the operators of public water systems (PWSs). Much of the estimated 880,000 miles of drinking water infrastructure in the United States has been in service for decades and can be a significant source of water loss. In addition to physical loss of water from the distribution system, water can be "lost" through unauthorized consumption (theft), administrative errors, data handling errors, and metering inaccuracies or failure. Water is a commodity that is produced by a PWS; therefore, lost or unaccounted-for water can be equated to lost or unaccounted-for revenue. A water loss control program can help to locate and reduce these water losses and thus maintain or increase revenue. This workshop introduces the need for a comprehensive meter program, a proactive water loss program, a water auditing program, and a public education and outreach program.

Topics to be covered:

- Inaccurate or Incomplete Record Keeping
- Meter Error and Unmetered Uses
- Leaks, Theft, Unauthorized Use
- Water Auditing
- Public Education
